

Cost Share

Does your proposal require a cost share commitment from the Vice President for Research? If so, please plan to meet with the Vice President (or the Associate Vice President for Research) at least a week prior to the proposal deadline to discuss the project and the required commitment. Be prepared to present a complete proposal budget that has been reviewed by the Office of Research Administration.

This will help ensure that financial support is available and appropriate, and the financial commitment is documented. This is especially important in this tight budget environment.

The Vice President for Research is committed to furthering the research mission of USM, and that includes providing financial assistance when it is appropriate and necessary.
